Emmons bond vote in limbo

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The referendum vote on the $1.6 million bond issue to finance Emmons Grade School's building expansion program was one of five issues on the April 4 ballot due for a recount check by the Lake County clerk's office this week.

The referendum lost by one vote, while the school district's other referendum asking for an educational fund tax rate raise went down by a larger majority.

According to Emmons' Supt. Jill Ballock, five Emmons School Board members spent over three hours with Lake County Clerk Linda Hess and her staff on Monday.

The voting machines were tested and then the county clerk's staff went through every ballot cast in Precinct 10 with the board quorum.

The Emmons Board members were told to pick one of the school district's four precincts to undergo this check.

Ballock said that they chose Precinct 10 because it is the largest precinct in the school district.

"We found one "yes" vote that had not been punched all the way through and so it was counted as a neutral vote," said Ballock.

At this point it is up to the school board to decide whether or not to petition for a recount in the other three precincts.

"This could involve court proceedings so we will probably get some legal assistance," added Ballock.

If just two ballots can legally be moved from the "no" to the "yes" column, the referendum will pass.

Ballock said, "It is an involved but interesting procedure," while commanding Hess' staff for their courtesy and thoroughness.

Dist. 34's water safe

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Children attending all of the schools in Antioch Grade School Dist. 34, and their parents, can put their minds at ease concerning the overladen drinking water that is being found in many schools.

According to Supt. Donald Skidmore, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's standard for lead content in drinking water allows up to 50 parts per billion.

The school district had the water coming out of the schools' drinking fountains tested by Environmental Services out of Oak Creek, Wis.

The Wisconsin study shows that the lead count in the drinking water coming out of the fountains at W. C. Petty School ranges from under 4 to 4.8. Well below the 50 count allowed.

The drinking water in all the other schools in the district tested out at a low of four and a high of 20, also less than half of what the IEPA allows in stamping water safe to drink.

In other news from Dist. 34, the school board approved the hiring of James Lienhardt as principal of Oakland Grade School starting with the 1989-90 school year, at a salary of $47,000.

Dr. Skidmore had at first asked the school board for a staff increase next year of four members. He then lowered that request to three new staff members. At the last regular meeting of the grade school board, the board granted him the right to hire four new staff members, as per his original request.

Fancy footwork

The next several weekends will be filled with thousands of kids participating in their favorite athletic activity. Stormwater group pushes for county plan

The Lake County Stormwater Management Planning Committee, chaired by Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton, will be seeking a compromise in its bid to create a county-wide drainage plan.

The committee was dealt a telling setback when legislation needed to provide funding for individual flood prevention projects. House Bill 1280 sponsored by John Matijevich (D-Waukegan), was shot down by a House of Representatives committee last week. Welton still believes a user fee ordinance is the "way to go" but that a compromise is needed at this time.

Dick Welton

"I don't see this as a serious setback. We'd like to have our plan in order by 1990 and I still think we can do that. What needs to be done at this point is to educate the people on what the stormwater committee is all about. It's a very serious problem," the chairman said.

The stormwater committee, which was formed in 1988 consisting of mayors and County Board representatives throughout the county, has indicated that one-fifth of Lake County's area is surface water, wetland and floodplain, and that a growing population and expanding urbanization means increasing problems with drainage and flooding.

Stormwater management is a new line item on the 1989 Lake County property tax bills. The 1989 tax rate is $0.007 for each $100 of assessed valuation, which translates to about $2.33 a year for a home with a market value of $100,000. The ceiling set by statute is $0.20 per $100 of assessed valuation, but the committee has stressed that the intent is not to levy the maximum but rather utilize a mix of other funding sources to prevent an over reliance on property taxes.

Funds from this levy will be used by the stormwater management planning committee to develop and implement a comprehensive county-wide stormwater management plan.

"This is a common problem that everybody in the entire county is experiencing. If we all pulled together we could eliminate a lot of these flooding problems," asserted Welton.

Opponents of the plan have made their feelings public regarding a user fee ordinance, which would impose fees based on runoff contribution and service charges.

The Lake County Board of Realtors has voted to oppose the user fee plan. "That's taxation without representation. We feel our responsibility is to protect the landowners in situations like this. If the committee wants it so bad, why don't they let the people decide and put it in the form of a referendum to be voted on," said Board President Don Giarrante.

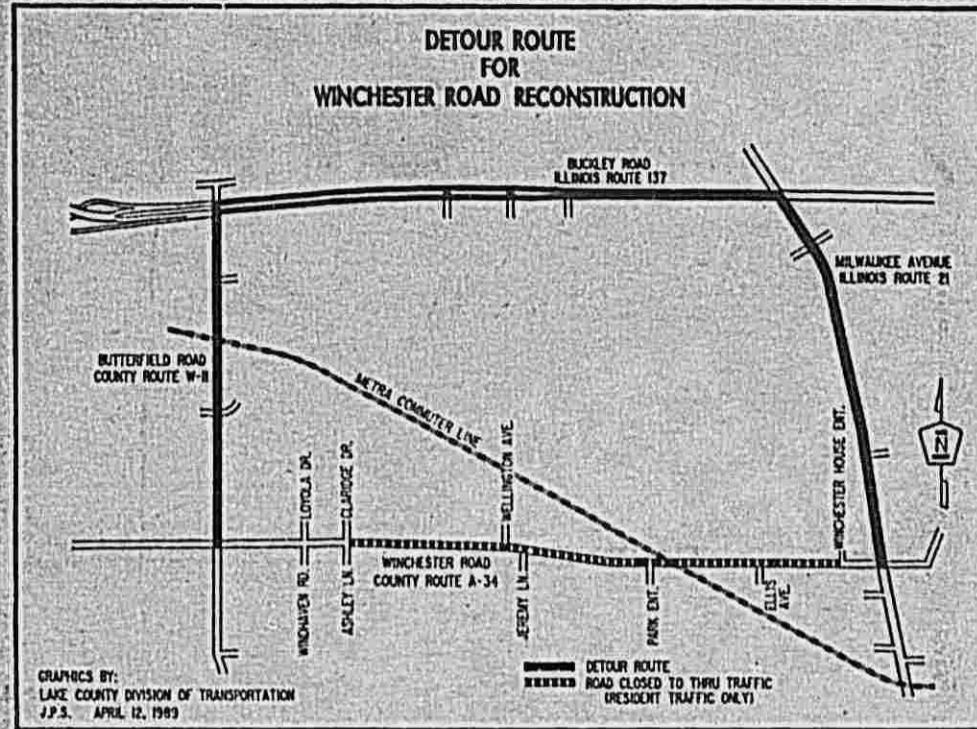

The committee is preparing a draft of the comprehensive plan to be released for review by late this summer. This will be followed by public hearings.

The final plan, along with a stormwater management ordinance and technical manual, will then be forwarded to the County Board for review before the year's end.

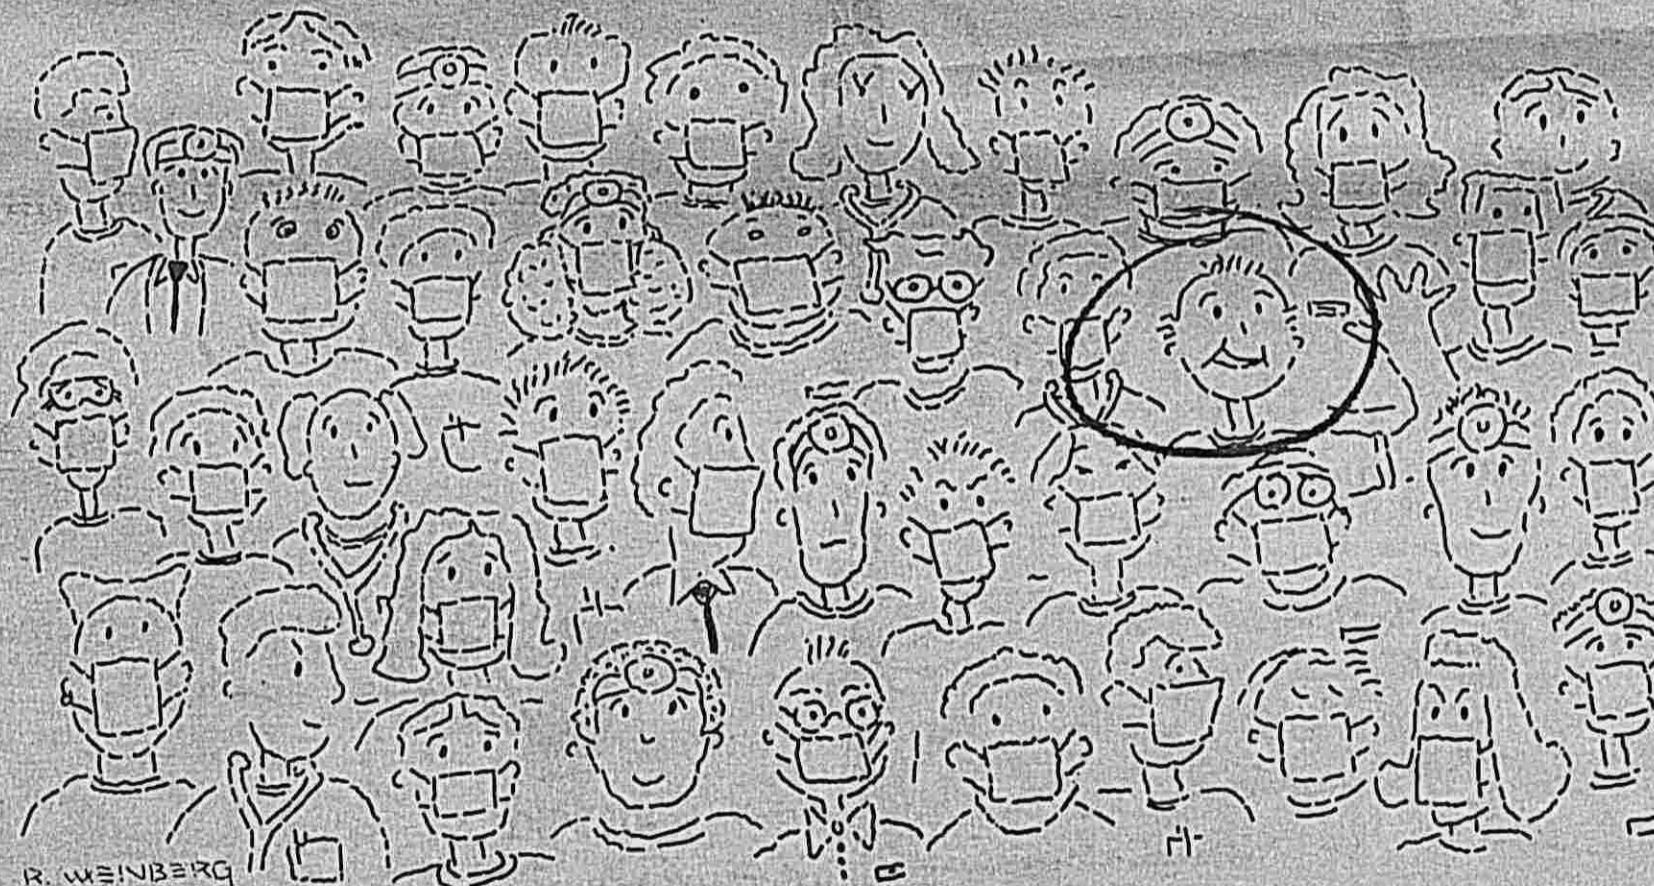

The committee consists of six mayors and six County Board representatives, one from each district. Current members include: Dist. 1 - Deerfield Mayor Bernard Forrest and Rep. Deloris Axlerod; Dist. 2 - Lake Bluff President N. David Graf and Rep. Matthew Miholic; Dist. 3 - Rep. Eleanor Rostrom and the mayor's slot is currently vacant; Dist. 4 - Round Lake Beach Mayor Carl Schrimpf and Rep. Suzi Schmidt; Dist. 5 - Gurnee Mayor Welton and Rep. James Dolan; and Dist. 6 - Rep. C. Richardson Anderson and the mayor's slot is currently vacant.

Murder, fire, DUI death part of Trevor weekend

by GLORIA DAVIS

Lakeland Newspapers

The usually tranquil tiny town of Trevor was in a chaotic state last weekend with sirens blaring and uniformed and plain clothed law enforcement officials everywhere.

Early Friday evening the body of John (Butch) Murray, 48, was found in the garage of his small ranch home on 253rd Ave.

Murray had three bullet wounds in his head, fired from a .22 caliber gun.

Except for the fact that Murray and his wife Janice had lived in the Trevor location for approximately one year, that they were a quiet couple, liked by neighbors, and that he was a former jailer at the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. for five months in 1971-72, Kenosha County law enforcement agencies are releasing little information while the alleged homicide is under investigation.

Reports have the incident possibly drug related and the police looking for a late model black car that may be involved.

At noon on Saturday, a dozen fire departments from northern Illinois and Kenosha and Walworth Counties converged on a fire at the Badger Cork factory a few miles away where the third major blaze since 1983 was in progress.

Dozens of pieces of fire fighting equipment and rescue squad ambulances jammed the rear parking lot of the division of Global Technology, while clouds of smoke billowed from the roof and gallons of water poured into the grinding room.

A previous worry that chemicals from the factory might float into Camp Lake along with the water from the fire fighting were relieved, but after the fire was quelled, a temporary dam was built to keep cork particles from flowing into the lake along with the surface water.

The fire was contained in the grinding room where it started with some electrical damage attributed to burned wires and smoke damage found in other parts of the factory.

According to Henry Fleck, owner of Badger, the damage has been estimated at three-quarters of a million dollars and was probably caused when a spark ignited the dust in a bin in the grinding room.

Despite the fire, it was business as usual at Badger on Monday morning.

Later on Saturday, just before 6 p.m., a crash on Hwy. C, just minutes from the fire scene, between a van and a truck resulted in the death of Harold Zettleoyer, 63, Wadsworth, the driver of the truck.

Caroline Ramsey, 52, Spring Grove, a passenger in the truck, was taken to the Westosha Emergency Medical Center for treatment of injuries.

At press time, the Kenosha County Sheriff's Dept. was seeking charges of homicide through the intoxicated use of a vehicle against the driver of the van, Timothy Poulson, 27, Silver Lake.

When the school bells ring at Antioch High School next September, classes won't be the only thing starting.

The school-year long celebration of the school's 75th anniversary will also commence.

There is a 12-man committee in charge of the celebration. They have been working feverishly on the completion of a 100-page anniversary booklet.

$217,000 belt press will save $36,000 per year

At the last regular board meeting before a new mayor and two new trustees, as well as a new clerk take over on May 1, the Antioch Village Board took steps to save the village $36,000 yearly.

The board approved the purchase of a new belt filter press at a cost of $217,000.

According to wastewater treatment plant operator, Mike Ruxton, the press is designed to update the treatment plant's top priority, the disposal of sludge.

Ruxton told the board that the equipment now being used at the treatment plant cannot turn out high quality effluent of the type which will be turned out with the addition of the belt filter press.

Ruxton told the board the $36,000 per year savings will come in the lower cost of chemicals now being used, labor, and the cost of hauling the sludge.

The board set Monday, June 5, for the opening of bids on the press purchase.

According to Mayor Ray Tost, the saving to the village resulting from the purchase will be sizeable. Tost added that the village had paid $26,000 last year just for sludge hauling and disposal.

Antioch takes a break from rough NSC start

Antioch baseball Coach Greg Decker is hoping a few days break in the rugged North Suburban Conference schedule will be just what the doctor ordered for the bewildered Sequoits.

Antioch dropped four more NSC games last week, giving the first-year coach a rough 0-6 league start. The Sequoits started the week with a 3-10-1 record overall.

"It's something that is intangible. It's not something you can put your finger on. In eight of our 10 losses, we have been ahead," Decker lamented.

Decker said his main priority this week is to keep his team's positive attitude.

The Sequoits dropped a doubleheader to Niles North 11-4 and 8-6 Saturday.

In a game played by Murphy's law - everything that can go wrong did - the Vikings had 10 runs by the third inning.

"It just snowballed. After 10-0, I decided to put nine new players in. They did not quit," Decker said.

The first game did feature a defensive gem for Antioch - a triple play. With runners on first and second base, a Niles North batter hit a line drive to pitcher Mike Pablo. Pablo threw to Craig Askew at second base for one force out and Askew threw to first baseman Dan Grote for the third out.

"That is the first time I have seen a triple play in high school," Decker said.

Antioch appeared like it would take the momentum from the triple play into the second game.

The Sequoits jumped off to a 4-0 lead. Jerry Johnson and Matt Krueck delivered RBI singles in the first inning.

Niles North scored a run on a balk in the first and second innings.

Decker pointed to a play in which an Antioch runner was gunned down going to third base as the game's turning point.

Down 4-3, the Vikings scored five runs in the third inning. Niles North had two home runs - including a grand slam - in that frame for an 8-4 lead.

Antioch rallied with single runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

Zion-Benton beat Antioch twice, 3-0 and 5-2. Antioch led 2-0 at one point in the second game.

"I call it the 90 feet syndrome. We stranded six guys on third base in the second game," Decker said.

Elsewhere in the NSC, Warren swept Mundelein and Libertyville did the same to North Chicago. Stevenson kept pace with the Wildcats by sweeping Lake Forest.

Maple's one-hitter may give Sequoits a boost

Nothing like completing a softball week with a pitching gem.

Just ask Antioch senior Kelly Maple.

Maple fired a one-hitter as the Sequoits earned a split with Niles North in a 11-0, five-inning game.

The Vikings' lone hit came in the fourth inning.

Maple did walk three batters, preventing a chance at a perfect game.

"She did a super job. She had good control and she was consistent," Antioch Coach Ken Anderson said.

Antioch, who is off this weekend, had dropped a 5-3 decision in the first game.

The win in game two gave Antioch a 2-4 North Suburban Conference record.

Maple was well-supported by a 14-hit attack in the win.

Jenny Hagen was two-for-four while Dale Ramage, Debbie Wertz, Maple and Kelly Primshaffer were all two-for-three.

Earlier, the Sequoits dropped two games to Zion-Benton, 14-5 and 3-2.

Antioch could manage just two hits but used them to score two runs in the 3-2 game.

Anne Rohde's two-run double in the fifth inning was Antioch's highlight on offense.

Santiemmo birthday bash brings Patty unusual hat

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(312)395-5380

About 70 people gathered at the home of Anthony Santiemmo on Saturday, April, to help execute a fantastic surprise birthday celebration for his wife, Patty. There was plenty of delicious food and an enormous, delicious birthday cake. Patty received many beautiful gifts and a special birthday hat. If you see a cake with legs walking around town, don't be alarmed, it's just Pat wearing her new "unusual" hat in public!

Grass Lake PTO

Members of the Grass Lake School PTO are urged to attend the Wednesday, May 3, meeting. It will be an important meeting at which many decisions must be made. On the agenda will be three items put to a vote: (1) an increase from $150 to $250 in the amount of monies that can be spent without being put to a vote; (2) the election of new officers; and (3) fund disbursement to the school. Mark May 3 on your calendar, and plan to arrive about 7 p.m. Emmons Jr. High

GLS board meeting

On Monday, April 10, many happy people attended the monthly meeting of the GLS Board of Education. After the meeting, the happy crowd gathered at Struggles Restaurant for a successful passage of the education fund referendum, little celebration over the Anthony Przeklaska, superintendent, and Donald Grob, president of the board, were on hand to personally thank everyone for their hard work and support.

Emmons Jr. High

This week I would like to highlight the Emmons Jr. High English program. The goal of the program is to integrate many areas for the composition, grammar, listening and speaking mechanics, spelling, vocabulary and research skills. The end result being, students learn how to communicate more effectively in many different ways. At the present time, the students are preparing a creative writing publication of some of their favorite writing pieces. It is entitled "Reflections."

Oakland School

Due to a lot of cooperation and hard work, Oakland's PTFK was able to purchase the following useful items for the school—camcorder, blank tapes, tripod, battery pak, educational resource donation to each full- and part-time teacher, $2,144 towards purchase of new computers with color monitors, computer tables and cork strips for the hallway.

Miss/Little Ms. Antioch

As I am in and about our home town, I see many pretty faces on little girls and older girls. This tells me there should be a lot of contestants vying for the titles of "Miss Antioch" and naturally her ears perked up and she asked "What?" Nikki repeated "pre cycle education!" Finally, Nikki's older sister Jenny trans-

That date will be here faster than you think, so don't delay, pick up your application from Theresa ASAP. You can reach her at the park office at (312)395-2160.

Etc., etc., etc. . . .

Rumor has it that Jim Schmehl, Sr., is thinking of planting an entire garden of watermelons this summer. If you run into Jim in the produce department before planting season, please do me this favor—encourage him to buy only half a melon or less.

According to little Nicole Santiemmo, there is a new subject being taught at Grass Lake School. She was so pleased with her report card that she insisted on personally reading the grades to her mom. So, she recited the reading grade, math grade, spelling grade, etc. When Pat heard Nikki say "pre cycle education"

lated—"Ma, she means physical education."

Pam Clarke looks radiant as a mother-to-be for the fifth time around. Danny, Becky, Holly and Katie are waiting anxiously for their new sibling to arrive and, naturally, all our readers are also waiting to get the word.

Welcome back to Antioch after an extended stay in Florida during the winter months to Tom and Rose Simpson, Ed and Lucille Caulfield, and Pehr and Harriet Bolling.

On Sunday, April 16, a wedding shower was given by Linda Posson in honor of Janice Okrzesik. Janice received loads of beautiful gifts from the 25 guests in attendance. Janice is a graduate of GLS and ACHS. She will be marrying Dale Furrer on May 27. Janice is the daughter of Ernestine and Erwin Okrzesik of Antioch. The ceremony will be performed at St. John's United Church of Christ in the Most Improved.

Antioch wrestlers are now participating in the Lake County Wrestling Club. The club works out at several sites around the county. Interested wrestlers are participating in various tournaments on Saturdays this spring.

Sequoit grapplers finish

The 1988-89 varsity Sequoit wrestlers finished the season with a runner-up finish in the conference. Conference championship was won by Dave Sheppard at 135 pounds.

The Antioch wrestling program was assisted for the third year by the Antioch Wrestling Parents Club. This club was instrumental in increasing attendance at home meets by providing a special hospitality room for parents and conducting many "special night." They also provided a program for each home meet. The season was capped off with a banquet attended by over 160 wrestlers and parents. Special awards were presented by the Parents Club and the coaching staff. The wrestling staff looks forward to the continued involvement of this extension of the wrestling family.

Sheppard was Antioch's Most Valuable Wrestler. Glen Osmond was selected continuing her classes. Friday, April 21, was the frosting on the cake for Shirley, when she received the "Office System and Technology Honors Graduate Award" for the 1988-89 school year. Judy Fechner, also a wife, mother and college student was also honored at CLC on April 21. Judy received recognition for maintaining a grade point average above 3.75 for a period of more than 45 credit hours. Congratulations to you both. Your families and friends are proud of your dedication and hard work.

I'll close with a happy birthday to Don Fechner. Remember to call me with your news items, and remember to "Ask for the Lizard." See you next week.

Kickers set for Wildcats

Antioch's girls soccer team will be up against one of the favorites to contend for the North Suburban Conference title when the Sequoits host Libertyville May 1.

The Sequoits started the NSC season with two wins and a tie in five league matches.

Coach Jim Curtis's team topped Niles North 1-0 and Fenton 4-0.

Goalie Colleen Osmond, a senior, registered shutouts in both of those contests.

"She has been doing a very good job," Curtis said.

Five seniors lead the Antioch efforts this year. They are Debbie Herich, Hope Reidel, Kim Yeaton and Stacy Dewar.

The Sequoits tied for fourth place in the NSC last season with a 5-5 record.

Most of Antioch's contest this year have been low scoring. "We have to work on offense. That has been our weak point," Curtis said.

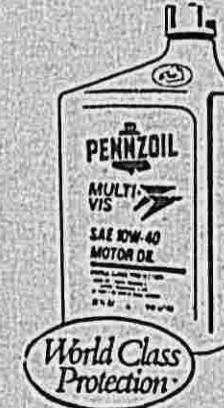

Libertyville and Stevenson are expected to battle it out for the NSC title this season. The Wildcats and Patriots battled to a 0-0 tie in the first match.

ACHS sponsors drive

Students must be at least 17 years old and must bring proof of age with them. This year, all students must have signed parent permission slips to give blood. Call Mrs. Coolidge or Mrs. Rummel between 9 and 9:45 a.m. daily for an appointment. Phone (312) 395-1421, ext. 244. This is an excellent opportunity to help others.

Treatment plans on hold in Lindenhurst

by KIM BOLTON

LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS
The Lindenhurst Sanitary District's application for a low-interest loan to be used for the construction of a new wastewater treatment plant in Lindenhurst has been put on hold, at least temporarily.

The application to the Water Pollution Control Revolving Fund's Low-Interest Loan Program has been placed on the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's (IEPA) intended use (priority) list at number 331 out of a total of 500 applicants. Together, the 500 applicants are asking for $300 million in loans, but there is only $60 million available.

Village Administrator Jim Stevens said he was told that the situation is not as bad as it seems. IEPA officials told representatives from Strand and Associates, the engineering firm hired by the village to draw the plans, that chances "looked good" for Lindenhurst. They also said that the plan was sound, cost-effective and that it minimized hazards to the environment.

Plans for the new plant, which has been estimated to cost $5.6 million, were submitted to the IEPA on April 3, in accordance with the schedule. But now the IEPA has requested a second round of applications which are due on July 15. From this group of applicants, a second intended-use list will be drawn up and Stevens hopes Lindenhurst will be much closer to the top.

"We are substantially ahead of everyone else in meeting all of our program requirements. We could be ready by May 15, but the deadline was extended to July," Stevens said.

become acidic and limestone will have to be applied.

Common bluegrass also may be used and will produce a satisfactory lawn under most conditions.

Sandy soil often are loose, porous, droughty and low in fertility. Clay soils may be hard when dry or plastic when wet, poorly aerated, but possibly high in fertility. Also, clay soil tends to compact easily.

Between these two extremes are the loams and sandy loams which, in general, are more desirable for plant growth of all kinds.

Grasses

Kentucky bluegrass is the most widely adapted of the grasses available for lawns. Kentucky bluegrass has many desirable properties, including disease and insect resistance, improved wear resistance and fine leaves. It is ideal for open, sunny areas and grows best on well-drained fertile soils with pH values about 6.5
and below 7.5. When lime is deficient, the soil will Ryegrass is a large seeded grass that germinates and establishes quickly. The "fine-leaf" perennial types are preferred. Rye is not particularly winter hardy.

When seeded alone, the grass will "winter kill."
Nevertheless, rye is a very desirable grass to keep on hand for emergency repair and to improve density of poor, unthrifty lawns.

Sod is often the best choice when establishing a new lawn, but make certain the mix of grasses in the sod fits your site and needs.
A good landscape contractor can prepare the seed bed and select the best sod for the site.

Fertilizer

Most lawns need fertilizer nutrients to supplement those that occur in the soil naturally. Fertilize in late spring, after winter nitrates are exhausted. When possible, aerate the lawn first.
This permits the fertilizer to fall into holes formed in

In general, nitrogen is the key element in turfgrass production. It is the element that imparts green color and that stimulates growth. Most lawns need two to four pounds of actual nitrogen annually.

At least one pound should be applied in mid to late fall. The remainder in two or more applications starting in late May or early June. Most forms of nitrogen are readily soluble and will, when moisture is present, move quickly into the soil.

Phosphorus is the key element in root production and is essential for good turf. Phosphorus needs may be met by applying a complete fertilizer in the fall. Potash is the third major constituent in a lawn fertilization program. Though soluble, it does not leach or erode. It is a requirement for elite lawns and is beneficial for all. The plant needs may be satisfied with the fall application of complete fertilizer under most conditions.

Persistence pays in pest war

The goal every gardener hopes to achieve is to have beautiful flowers or mouth-watering vegetables and fruit. To accomplish this, one needs to be able to recognize the symptoms of trouble as well as control insect pests that attack the garden.

In spite of how tiny some insects are, they can destroy a garden. To control and prevent insect pests, one needs to learn the four categories of these marauders. First, there are beetles, caterpillars and other pests that chew holes in the leaves of vegetables. Next, there are aphids, true bugs, and whiteflies that suck plant juices. Don't forget the insects that bore into leaves and fruit. Finally, there are soil insects that attack from below the ground.

The easiest way to get rid of beetles or caterpillars is to pick them off vegetables and squash them underfoot or drop them in a jar and release them away from your plants. Two common non-toxic substances to control many insects are mineral oil (a safe non-poisonous light oil spray) and soapy water.

Mineral oil works by smothering slow moving insects. Most garden centers have this product. When using soapy water, mix about 20 tablespoons of soap flakes in 6 gallons of water and spray plants with a spray gun or tank. This method can't hurt the plants.

Gurnee

Boat loans are expected to increase 12 percent in 1989, according to a Gurnee banking expert, who also functions as business manager for The Boat Show in Gurnee, a leading boat retailer in northern Illinois. "Research done by the National Marine Bankers Assn. has indicated that boat loan portfolios are predicted to grow 12 percent in dollars in 1989. The forecast comes on the heels of 20 and 18 percent increases in 1988 and 1987 respectively," said Linda Overbey of The Boat Show. The survey showed that the average buyer is 39 years old and has a household income of $67,000.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for general corporate purposes and to repay existing debt. The sale, which was expected to be completed April 25, will have no material effect on Baxter's 1989 net earnings. Headquartered in Kobe, Japan, IRC was established as a joint venture between Baxter and Green Cross and began trading publicly in Japan in November, 1985.

Claudine's salons believe in perfection

by KIM BOLTON

LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS

Claudine Reese and her daughter Elaine Indelak are the perfect partners for the bridal business—they're mother and daughter and they work in a mother/daughter industry.

Reese and Indelak are the owners of two bridal salons—Claudine's of Libertyville Bridal Gallery and Boutique, at 328 Peterson Rd. in the Brookside Mall in Libertyville, and Claudine's Bridal Gallery on 6th St. in Racine.

Reese and Indelak understand the bridal business and the mystique surrounding it. Together their backgrounds taught them almost every aspect of the business that they needed to know when opening their first store in Racine six years ago.

Reese is a former runway model who worked for many of the Chicagoland department stores and for the Apparel Mart in Chicago. She worked as an assistant purchasing agent for a major corporation for 15 years in a position which not only taught her purchasing, but how to work in a man's world.

"In this business, you deal with a lot of men. They run all the dress manufacturing corporations," Reese said.

A college graduate, Indelak worked as a copywriter for the former American Hospital Supply Co. which is now part of Baxter Corp. She has also worked as a training consultant for a major cosmetic firm and gained experience in retail as a fashion coordinator for the former Weiboldt's on State St. in Chicago.

Reese and Indelak made the move from working in major corporations to owning their own business in 1983 when they purchased the 50-year-old Ruth Karnes' bridal salon in Racine. They wanted to "be their own bosses" and believed that their background in the clothing and modeling industries was valuable experience and could be of great value in opening a retail shop.

Business Focus

Names: Claudine Reese, Elaine Indelak

Business: Owners of Claudine's of Libertyville Bridal Gallery and Boutique and Claudine's Bridal Gallery in Racine.

Philosophy: "If the sky falls, the wedding must go on, and that is our responsibility."

Being a mother and daughter team, they also believed, would give them the right balance to open a shop that deals most often with mother and daughter customers.

"We decided this would be a nice business to go into as a mother and daughter team because that's what this business is about," Indelak said.

After commuting to their Racine store from their Libertyville-area homes everyday for three years, Reese and Indelak decided it was time to expand the business and open a shop close to home. They opened the Peterson Rd. store in February of 1986.

Running two bridal salons is a tremendous amount of work for Reese and Indelak and their ten employees, but they love it.

"You have to love this business to be good at it," Reese said.

She said there is a special mystique about the business that intrigues men as well as women. That mystique has to be protected when a girl comes into her store in search of the gown that will make her look more beautiful than any garment she has ever worn in her life.

"I love to see the girls come in with their moms and watch their eyes shine as they pick out that perfect dress," Reese said.

In protecting that magic, Reese and Indelak have to make sure that absolutely nothing gets in the way for the big day that every girl dreams about. They take the responsibility very seriously of making sure that their work is done perfectly, and that the girls are happy with their gowns.

"The dream must be fulfilled and it will be," Reese said.

Reese and Indelak say that nothing in their personal lives can get in the way of their business. Their work must be done no matter what happens.

"If the sky falls, the wedding must go on and that is our responsibility," Reese said.

They have already begun refurbishing the center with an entirely new facade, new signage and pylon sign as well as resurfacing the parking lot and new landscaping.

The Antioch Shopping Plaza anchors include Piggly Wiggly, Globe Dept. Store and Sears Catalog Store, and has a market draw of nearly 20 miles.

There are four available spaces in the center ranging from 2,500 square feet to 14,000 square feet. Scardino stated that they are currently seeking an insurance office, real estate office, liquor store, drug store and automotive store to add to the current tenant mix.

pools.

Who should you trust for pool care? The cashier at the discount chain store? She may be able to sell you a drum of chlorine, but she probably knows as much about pool care as she does brain surgery.

Or perhaps you've tried the "truckload" chlorine dealer. Fact is, his interest in your pool stops as soon as the sale is made.

As a BioGuard Authorized Pool Care Center, all our people are trained professionals when it comes to pool care. We can give you expert advice, free computerized water analysis and more.

So don't trust just anyone—trust a BioGuard Authorized Dealer. We really know pools.

$4 million building planned at LakeView

Ground will be broken in May for a multi-tenant building to be built at LakeView Corporate Park, according to Mark Irgens, executive vice president of Boldt Development Corp.

Named 8400 LakeView Center, this 84,150 sq. ft., $4-million building will be the first part of a multi-stage, 150,000-sq.-ft. total development. Phase I is part of a multi-tenant portion of LakeView Corporate Park to be developed by Boldt. Boldt anticipates that it will develop other industrial and distribution facilities in the park.

Designed to accommodate a maximum of six industrial tenants, this new building will be home to small and medium-sized tenants. The building will be adaptable to light manufacturing, with provisions for office and warehousing space if desired by the tenant. Previously, LakeView Corporate Park has been marketing to owners, users and larger single-tenant buildings.

The 150,000 sq. ft., two-phase project will initiate a joint venture between Boldt Development Corp. with WISPARC Development Corp. as a limited partner for the Pleasant Prairie site.

WISPARC Vice President Jerold Franke represented this subsidiary of Wisconsin Energy Corp. in setting up the project. Boldt is associated with the Boldt Group, Inc. of Appleton.

PSI Design of Big Bend will be the architect for this first stage of the project, with general construction by Boldt Development. Projected completion will be October 1989.

Situated on the Wisconsin/Illinois state line, LakeView Corporate Park will be attractive to businesses north of Chicago, Irgens said.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

FIRST-YEAR FEET

by Dr. Gary L. Rippberger

What happens during a baby's first year sets the stage in development of the feet. Consider:

1. It is in the first year that the feet grow most rapidly.

2. The foot is one of the most complex structures of the body with 26 bones and networks of ligaments, muscles, blood vessels and nerves. A baby's feet are soft and pliable. Abnormal pressure can cause deformities with life-long repercussions.

Avoid covering the baby's feet tightly. Restricting movement can retard development. Lying uncrossed allows the baby to kick and perform other motions which help prepare the feet for weightbearing. See that the baby doesn't lie in one position too long, especially on the stomach. This can put excessive strain on the feet and legs.

Early pediatric examination can help prevent future foot problems.

Flooding foes advance Politically Speaking

It is encouraging to know that members of the Lake County Stormwater Management Planning Committee are proceeding full speed for adoption, in December, of a county-wide drainage plan despite a setback dealt by defeat of a bill needed to provide funding for individual flood prevention projects.

Both the sponsor of the bill, State Rep. John Matjevich (D-Waukegan) and Gurnee Mayor Richard A. Welton, committee chairman, feel that opposition from builders and realtors is short-sighted. The bill provided authority for taxing bodies to charge service fees where needed to deal with the many faceted problem of rainfall runoff—drainage, flood control and water quality.

HB 1280 was considered a linchpin in providing for comprehensive stormwater management. The new rate of .007 on Lake County tax bills this year for stormwater management will provide approximately $440,000 for planning and administration. The rate translates into about $2.33 per $100 assessed valuation for a home with a market value of $100,000.

The committee, which is evenly divided between mayors and county board members, ruled out levying the maximum of .20 per $100 valuation, opting for a funding system that would directly tie the benefits received to the user rather than invoke a general real estate tax. We wholeheartedly applaud the committee for this decision.

In a county where almost one-fifth of the area is surface water, wetland and floodplain, the need for comprehensive stormwater management is self evident.

The program was mandated by the state in 1983, several years before the devastating floods a few years ago. The committee, with the support of Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, began work in earnest in February, 1988, to develop the plan providing for continuity for 90 units of government in Lake County that will have the effect of law when adopted by the Lake County Board. A final draft of the overall plan will be ready in late summer, with public hearings to follow.

That's why it was more than a little discouraging to see a lot of progress to date jolted by the killing of HB 1280. Mayor Welton, however, is taking a high road approach, voicing the advisability of a compromise and "education" to win over the support of home builders and realtors.

The cooperation between Mayor Welton, and committee vice-chairperson, Dist. 3 County Board Eleanor Rostrom, exemplifies the almost unique unified municipal-county approach referred to as a "partnership" by Welton, who stresses that the plan will not result in a new level of government or a "super" drainage district. Rather, the aim is to provide for coordination of action through a system of common ordinances administered by existing units of local government.

The way Lake County municipalities and the county have been at each other's throats over such questions as open space and imposition of impact fees, stormwater committee cooperation is almost too good to be true. But so far, it has been working—and working beautifully.

Competition for labor

Lake County's reputation as a great place to do business faces no little threat from accelerated commercial growth on the Wisconsin side of the state line.

Local businesses long have taken advantage of the stable and productive labor force provided by close-by Kenosha County residents. Now Wisconsin economic development aides are trumpeting the same advantage for locating in WISPARK, LakeView Corporate Park and other commercial sites being established in the Pleasant Prairie area of 1-94.

The reliable labor force, plus Wisconsin's favorable business taxes and modest electric power rates, are formidable attractions for businesses desiring a location between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Both the competition for labor resources and creation of new jobs combine to make this part of the country a desirable place to work and live. What signs there are elsewhere of the U.S. economy cooling off, aren't apparent here.

Anyone who has not heard the name Fred Bigham will one of these days, guaranteed,

He engineered the April defeat by Ralph Swank over incumbent F.T. "Mike" Graham for Libertyville Twp. supervisor.

There is more to come, promises the Island Lake Republican precinct committeeman, who moved there two years ago. He is a veteran of, by his own estimate, 70 or 80 campaigns. Most were in Cook County where he was a Democratic precinct committeeman and captain before switching parties.

Bigham runs political campaigns like a Marine sergeant. He knows where to find voters and get them to the polls.

Defeating Graham was easy, said the man who does this as a hobby (and some money, too). Otherwise he is a field adviser for the Dept. of Transportation.

"Graham was saddled with the land condemnation issue for forest preserve purposes," Bigham said. "Also, he was using his office for years to advance that cause, which didn't sit well with people."

Bigham capitalized on those two negatives in what he calls a "plus, minus, zero-based campaign" that targets voters and their feelings. As stated, Bigham knows how to get out the vote.

Although he may be down, he is not out. Hansen vows to attend meetings, lots of them, beginning in Ela Twp. where he once served as trustee.

"This guy wasn't even constructive while on the town board," says Sup. Robert Grever. He calls Hansen's catcalls and comments at meetings "disruptive."

Hansen is getting set for a second-term County Board run in 1990. Grever & Co. are said to be working on a slate of their own to prevent Hansen from getting too big for his political britches.

No punishment

by BILL SCHROEDER

Esther Hanson is at peace, death coming mercifully to end a month-long struggle for life after being beaten to within one last gasp by two intruders who stole $5.

The 88-year-old widow was buried by her family in Palatine a few days before a Lake County grand jury returned murder indictments against the two youths accused of beating her with a tire iron when she surprised them while they were ransacking her cottage in Shaw Subdivision, an unincorporated neighborhood of mostly senior citizens located between Round Lake and Fox Lake.

Mrs. Hanson lingered near death during her final days, displaying the steely will that provided her support to enjoy living alone for many years. Officials at Condell Hospital were amazed that the head wounds and other lacerations to her upper body did not prove fatal at the time of the assault.

Sheriff's deputies utilized their network of informants to establish that Walter Makowski, 19, and John Grogan, 17, were in Mrs. Hanson's home. Investigating officers discovered that the two youths worth trouble in $5 beating were familiar with the home from an earlier break-in.

Police are dumbfounded for a motive that triggered the mindless brutality. Sex or drugs were not involved. Makowski arrived in Round Lake Beach in January, telling acquaintances he formerly lived in Chicago. The only thing marring his record is a minor juvenile disturbance. Grogan, a product of a broken family, was laboring to maintain a normal life. Moving to Fox Lake from Waukegan a year ago, he found the going in Grant High School difficult and was transferred to the Learning Opportunity Center at Round Lake High, a public funded optional education program for troubled youths.

The background on Makowski is blank. Grogan compiled a creditable record the first semester, missing only one day of school while keeping occupied at odd jobs mornings and attending class from 3 to 6 p.m. He was regarded as a "no problem" kid. After the holidays, though, he attended school two days and then disappeared without cause.

Authorities are theorizing that John got acquainted with Walter and adopted the former Chicagoan's lifestyle of idleness.

As to the wanton incident in Shaw Subdivision, police are offering only this conclusion: Mrs. Hanson surprised the amateur house breakers. They panicked and freaked out. The result? The needless death of an old woman and two youths facing life imprisonment or the death penalty.

I knew Esther Hanson, and I'm mad as hell about her needless death. My first reaction is to wish that Makowski and Grogan experience the pain they inflicted on Mrs. Hanson. When they recover—if they recover—they should stand trial. The death penalty? Why not? No great loss to society for a faceless pair who were well on their way to becoming two of life's losers.

On second thought, though, I'm not so sure. Grogan and Makowski aren't worth all the cost and trouble it will take taxpayers to put them behind bars. Let them admit their terrible deed, put their pictures in the newspaper and turn them loose to live the rest of their lives with what happened during those terrible two or three minutes in Mrs. Hanson's home. It shouldn't be too difficult to find a freewheeling psychologist to testify that the two boys didn't know what they were doing and that they were too young to comprehend the consequences of their actions. It happens all the time.

Mrs. Hanson was a friend of mine, not a personal friend, but a telephone friend like newspapermen have; one of the countless callers who find solace in pouring out their problems and sharing their thoughts with a good listener. Newsmen are good listeners. I heard—and felt—Mrs. Hanson's disbelief over the meandering lives led by so many young people today and her chagrin over the meanness of neighborhood children who she tried to befriend with cookies and pay for odd jobs, only to receive taunts and acts of minor vandalism in return. Mrs. Hanson put into words what a lot of old people are wondering. I can still hear her ask in weary wonderment: "Isn't there something parents and police can do?"

The irony of an old woman's unnecessary death is that Grogan and Makowski didn't have to beat Mrs. Hanson over the head for money. All they would have had to do was ask and she would have given them the $5.

Lake County At A Glance

Growth stops short

LAKE ZURICH—Unbridled growth of the past several years came to a screeching halt at this week's special meeting of the village board. What was expected to be the routine approval of three annexation-rezonings adding 141 acres, 286 new homes and a commercial development with hotel, restaurant and shopping plaza saw the rejection of all but one development of 25 acres with 76 sites for $150,000 homes. Old-guard trustees Milton Farout and C. Montgomery Campbell cast key votes rejecting two other developments to the resounding applause of a standing-room only crowd.

Leaf burning issue

HAWTHORN WOODS—Although Rte. 53's impact on this growing upscale community is still a burning issue, there is now a second one—the burning of leaves. A letter with 17 names was presented at this week's meeting of the village board to ban residential burning. Others at the meeting defended the practice, saying the aroma of burning leaves is pleasant and one of the reasons they moved here. This issue has been smouldering since last fall.

GRAYSLAKE ---Grayslake School

Politically

is more than one year away (Primary April 1990 and election November 1990), at least one candidate is getting an early start.

In Avon Twp. newsman Charlie Johnston was feted at a reception earlier this week to officially launch his campaign for the Dist. 4 seat of Norman Geary.

Johnson helped derail Geary's April bid for a return to the township supervisor post he held for 26 years. With that taste of political victory, Johnston now thinks he is savvy enough to knock off the County Board member of the past 24 years and its current chairman. All eyes will be on this one.

Before President George Bush started using the words "kinder" and "gentler," there was a man who was the walking personification of both.

His name was John Darrow. Forgotten by many, he served as Lake County auditor for 12 years, retiring in 1976. The office was abolished in 1978 with the death of Robert Milton, who held the office at the time.

A low-key person with an outgoing personality and ready smile, the one-time North Chicago village clerk, made working in his office a pleasure, said more than one employee. "I don't think anyone had an unkind word to say about one of the finest people to hold county office," said county Controller Clyde Barnes. He was hired by Darrow in 1969. Barnes was hand-picked to succeed Darrow upon his retirement, but didn't make it through the primary.

Following retirement, Darrow moved to Boulder, Wis. When the winters got too long and cold, Dist. 46 officials denounced a report assigned by former mayor Edwin Schroeder to study impact fees. According to Dist. 46 Board of Education President Donald Steffen, the board was never informed of the report's existence regarding impact fees and did not learn of it until its publication in the press.

Shelley resigns

WADSWORTH—Joyce Shelley has resigned her position on the Wadsworth Village Board. Shelley was appointed two a two-year term after she was defeated in her bid for re-election. Residents had objected to the appointment.

Eye tax increase

GURNEE—Gurnee Dist. 56 Board of Education members have agreed to seek a tax increase in the November general election. A May 9 strategy meeting has been set. No decision has been reached on the amount. In February, voters rejected a building fund and an educational fund tax increase try.

New board look

ANTIOCH — The Antioch Village Board will take on a new look on Monday, May 1 when the new mayor, Robert Wilton will be sworn into office at the regular village board meeting. Retiring village clerk, Marilyn Sterbenz, will swear Wilton in and also the new trustees, Marilyn Shinslager and Larry Hanson, as well as returning Trustee Ron Cunningham. A new village clerk, to be appointed by Wilton and approved by the majority of the board will also be sworn in by Sterbenz, probably her last official act for the village after over 20 years of service. The new clerk will then swear in the trustee filling Wilton's vacated trustee position. That trustee will also be appointed by Wilton and approved by the board.

Announces candidacy

Victory Hospital's Cardiac Cath unit helps in diagnosis

"I feel relieved. I can continue my life without fear of how much blockage I have. I feel I have a new lease on life," Steven Popovich said.

Popovich had good reason to smile this Sunday morning.

The first patient to use Victory Memorial Hospital's new Cardiac Catheterization unit returned as a success story.

The new unit is a joint venture between Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan and St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee, Wis. It brings cardiac catheterization to northern Lake County for the first time.

The comprehensive diagnostic procedure used to detect coronary artery diseases, congenital heart defects, valve disease and impaired myocardial function was shown off during tours and ribbon-cutting ceremonies Sunday.

Popovich praised the staff of Victory Memorial, stating they prepared him well for the procedure. "They answered all my questions in a direct manner," Popovich said.

Popovich's family has had a history of heart troubles and he had a mild heart attack himself in 1982.

"I'm living proof it works," Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian said.

Sabonjian had a heart attack two years ago and was treated at St. Luke's in Milwaukee.

"We're very lucky to have such a unit here in Waukegan," he said.

St. Luke's cardiologists have been working with Victory Memorial's staff in preparing for the new unit.

"Quick and accurate diagnosis of heart problems can be a matter of life and death for cardiac patients. At Victory, we see the opening of our Cardiac Catheterization Lab as a necessary

Getting started

Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian, left and Timothy Harrington, president of Victory Memorial Hospital, cut the ribbon for hospital's new Cardiac Catheterization unit. Hospital officials predict the new unit will aid patients, many of whom had to travel to Milwaukee to find specialized heart care.

Here's how it works

Joanne Johnson of Victory Memorial Hospital shows how the new Cardiac Catheterization unit works during tour Sunday. In the procedure, a contrast 'dye' is used to determine whether blockage or narrowing is present in the coronary arteries and to measure how well the heart valves and heart muscle function.

continuum of our cardiac services patients," Barbara Taylor, R.N., BSN, CCRN, and director of Victory's Cardiac Cath Lab, said.

Timothy Harrington, Victory Memorial President, said according to the American Heart Assn.,

the first sign of heart trouble is sudden death for five million Americans.

By offering comprehensive cardiac services, patients will not need to be transferred to another facility for a cardiac catheterization, reducing unnecessary costs.

"It will be of great benefit to families," Harrington said.

Harrington praised the relationship Victory Memorial has with St. Luke's, recognized as the sixth leading cardiac care facility.

Dispatching costs are up 100%

the joint dispatching service third year. The village formerly paid $679 per month. The only change from Kildeer's contract is a 90-day cancellation clause.

'Girls' an evening of laughs, tears

by GLORIA DAVIS
Entertainment Editor

The thousands of tv viewers that love "Golden Girls," and other productions that have dispelled the myth that "all senior citizens are doddering idiots," will enjoy and appreciate Marriott Lincolnshire's new theatre-dinner production of "70-Girls-70."

This melodious story of senior citizens that turn to larceny for survival, is at once funny, tuneful and bitter sweet, especially if an audience member is past 50 years of age.

Marriott veteran and favorite, Alene Robertson stars as Ida, the instigator of the entire hysterical plot.

Critic's
Choice

Her charming, elfin like quality, and the voice that can still belt past the last row, put the show right in her pocket, if the booty left any room there.)

Her cohorts in crime, E. Faye Butler, Ann Stevenson-Whitney, Dennis Kelly, Renée Mathews, William Reilly and Pat-Vern Harris, all veteran performers in their own right, contribute greatly to the hilarity.

Diane Houghton as Sadie the furrier and William Akey as the bellhop add to the list of acting and singing jobs well done.

The two funniest scenes involving Robertson's efforts to return a stolen fur coat and Dennis Reilly's gear shift into senility when the police come to investigate their "operation," tear the house down.

The tunes are catchy, with Robertson leading "Home" and "Say Yes; Butler and Mathews' version of "Coffee in a Cardboard Cup;" Butler's "Believe;" and Reilly and Whitney's duet, "Do We?," particular standouts.

Thomas Ryan's ingenious set designs and Diane Ferry Williams' lighting make a lot of things happen believably, in an unbelievably small space.

Diane Early's fine direction and excellent material supplied by the play, "Breath of Spring," by Peter Coke, plus words and lyrics by John Kander and Fred Ebb, make up a fine evening of entertainment.

"Girls" will be running through June 18 to be followed by the premier showing of "Matador."

Forbidden fruits

by JIM WARNEKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Chocolates from Belgium, coconuts from Mexico, cheese from Switzerland. Food items can be the most practical gifts to bring home from your journeys. If you've ever received an oversized Mexican sombrero from some relative who insists it would look great on the wall in your den, you'll understand what I mean. But which of those delectable edibles will be allowed to return with you?

Safe choices are bakery goods and candies. Fully cured cheeses such as Muenster, cheddar, Stilton and others, are allowed. Coconuts are O.K. if they do not have the husks. Dried foods such as coffee, tea or dried nuts will pass. Fruit is only allowed if it is dried or canned and processed, but it must still be declared. Canned meats are O.K. only if they are cooked to be shelf-stable and hermetically sealed. Jams and jellies, dried spices and canned or processed vegetables are also allowed.

On the forbidden side we have uncured cheeses such as Ricotta, cottage cheese and Chevre, as well as other dairy products. Bacon and sausage, as well as any meat product not treated as previously described, and fresh fruits or vegetables are not allowed.

The U.S. is a little more liberal when your travel takes you to one of our neighboring countries. You can bring back fresh fruit from Canada, as well as most kinds of meats. Your visit to Mexico will allow you to bring back bananas, lemons, limes, melons, pineapples and some other fruits. Meats, with the exception of pork and poultry, will also clear the border from Mexico.

While you won't have to clear customs on your return home from Hawaii, the Dept. of Agriculture will want to make sure those beautiful flower leis are O.K. They must be treated and approved first. Pineapples and other fruits must also be approved for transport to the mainland.

If you're already on your way home with some great sausage from Germany, get out the crackers and wine and invite the rest of the plane for a snack.

Find wit, flash in Halsted show

by TOM WITOM

"Oil City Symphony," the first production to grace the new Halsted Theatre Centre, 2700 N. Halsted St., Chicago, is a real entertainment oddity.

Created by Mary Mursitt (who is part of the four-member cast), Mark Hardwick, Mike Craver and Debra Monk, the musical comedy has some of the wit and flash of the long-running hit "Pump Boys and Dinettes," the dream-child of Monk and Hardwick.

"Oil City" brings together in a reunion four nervous 1960s high school graduates, gussied up in formal dresses and tuxedos and ready to show off their skills to Miss Reeves, their former music teacher.

The theater is fitted as a gym with stationary folding chairs and walls adorned with posters for the Oil City Rotary Club. Joel Rancy is Mike, the slick pianist who shows he's at home with Mozart, Bach or Jerry Lee Lewis. Susie Vaughn-Rancy is Debbie, the spirited drummer, joined by Mary Mursitt as the prissy Mary on the violin, flute and sax. Rounding out the group is George Tengel as Mike, who can mimic the others or go even beyond their capabilities with his synthesizer.

Their repertoire ranges from Boston Pops to Mormon Tabernacle Choir, to Iron Butterfly, and features a number of original songs such as "Beehive Polka," "Bus Ride" and the truly nutty "Beaver Ball at the Bug Club."

The program calls for an audience singalong and, get this, everyone is invited to participate in a brief rendition of the "Hokey-Pokey" halfway through the 90-minute show.

Set Adler concert

The public is invited to the Annual Spring String Recital by students from the David Adler Cultural Center's Suzuki program on Sunday, April 30 at the Libertyville High School Auditorium at 708 W. Park Ave., at 1 p.m.

One hundred students, ages three years and up, will be taking part in a program which features music by Vivaldi, Bach, Dvorak, Beethoven, Paganini, Brahms, Handel and Dr. Suzuki.

String instructors, Heidi Kahl, Ardis Fisher, and Nancy Kocal will direct the recital and Mary Myslis, educational director of the Adler Suzuki program, will accompany the students on piano.

Two hundred and sixty students each week walk through the doors of the David Adler Cultural Center to take part in its Suzuki Talent Education Program. The program currently features instruction in Suzuki flute, violin, viola, piano and cello.

The David Adler Cultural Center, 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave. is a non-profit organization. For further information call (312) 367-0707.

"Oil City," directed by Larry Forde, is supposed to recall a quieter, simpler time in America's history. In the cast's own words, "Music is like a smorgasbord—fun, tasty and attractively garnished."

The odd assortment of tunes and humor served in "Oil City" has these elements. And it's a corny but heartwarming combination—down to earth while thoroughly professional.

Sanitary group

by MIKE PRAMSHAFER
Lakeland Newspapers

The formation of a super sanitary district being pushed by Charles Johnston and Atty. Rudy Magna, Jr. has been put on hold.

The proposed district, which would serve northwest Lake County from Fox Lake to Hainesville and Round Lake Park to Antioch, was temporarily detained after the Illinois Assn. of Sanitary Dists. recommended that it be pulled off the fast track for more research. The Lake County Board also voted to oppose the legislation by a count of 16-4-4 last month.

Magna prepared the legislation and the bill is being sponsored by State Rep. Robert Churchill. The proposal came from a subcommittee of the Northwest Lake County Sewer System Advisory Committee, headed by Johnston, a former member of the Round Lake Sanitary Dist.

The purpose of the legislation is to establish a separate, independent agency to oversee and provide sewer service to northwest Lake County. It would continue to use the Fox Lake treatment plant to provide service.

The current system directed by the county is based on a series of intergovernmental agreements which were made when the Round Lake sewage facility closed due to failed technology 17 years ago.

If approved down the road, the super sanitary district board, of which Johnston is a member, will handle the meetings.

"The association told us that they would have to oppose the legislation the way it is written at this time. There are a few problems with the technical language concerning boundaries and finances, and they have offered their services in assisting us to draft new legislation. They group has recommended a delay in the legislation in an effort to further research the idea by holding hearings between the advisory group and Lake County, with the Illinois Assn. of Sanitary Dists. being a neutral party during may be a member of, would be the fourth similar layer of government in the area, including the Lakes Region Sanitary Dist., the Round Lake Sanitary Dist., and the advisory board. Foes of the proposal see it as a costly duplication to what already exists.

County Board Chairman Norman Geary believes the proposed district would be another layer of unnecessary bureaucracy, a body that will strip existing agencies of funds and do no better job than is now being done.

Johnston said the state did indicate, however, that the present system is a mess and that a single governing authority would be the best way to go," asserted Johnston.

Magna doesn't see the delay as a problem either. "This is all part of refining our legislation. The hearings, we hope, will be completed by Dec. 31 and at that time we'll see where we stand."

Regarding the delay, Walt Uhwat, chairman of the Lakes Region Sanitary Dist., said "I am in hope that this whole situation will be given more attention by the county, the Lakes Region Sanitary Dist., Fox Lake and Round Lake so we can come to a more equitable solution to the problem, if there is a problem. As far as I'm concerned the system seems to be functioning well the way it is right now."

He continued, "If there are any changes to be made, I would hope that all parties concerned will have the opportunity to provide input."

Address needs of care-givers

by DICK KLEMM
STATE
REPRESENTATIVE

Life carries a great deal of responsibility. As many of us know, raising children and caring for older parents or grandparents are considerable responsibilities which require time, patience and a lot of love.

Unfortunately, many people have less time to devote to care-giving because more family members, for one reason or another, have entered the workforce.

Today, 47 percent of American families have both husband and wife in the workplace. Of the 42 million families in the workforce, an estimated 3.1 million have care-giving responsibilities for elder family members. In many cases, care-giving responsibilities are carried out by women, typically a daughter or daughter-in-law. On average, these care givers provide 16 to 40 hours of elder care per week.

Obviously, it's difficult to work full-time and keep up with care-giving duties. Many working care givers are stressed, lose free time, miss vacation and opportunities for training, advancement and relocation. Working care givers in their middle years may also defer taking early retirement because they need the income.

As care-giving affects job performance, more employers have expressed concern to me regarding the care-giving issue. It was brought to my attention that the following on-the-job problems are associated with elder care responsibilities: frequent phone calls, distress, employees arriving late and leaving early, absenteeism, unscheduled time off, decreased productivity, delayed retirement and low morale. Employers are also concerned about a growing shortage of younger workers, and are looking for new ways to retain highly trained and skilled mid-life workers.

Some companies have developed Employee Assistance Programs to help their employees cope with elder care responsibilities. According to the Washington Business Group on Health, of 147 member companies surveyed, on in five were providing elder care support services, education or adjustable work schedules.

The Washington Business Group on Health and the National Assn. of State Units on Aging have received a grant from the Admin. on Aging to promote partnerships between the Aging Network and businesses to assist working care givers.

Partnerships between businesses and senior service providers are an excellent way to pool our resources to assist the caregiver. For senior service providers interested in forging partnerships with business, I would suggest: be clear on what can be delivered in the way of information, products and services; survey employees to determine their interests; hold a care-givers fair; look to board members for connections and contacts with business leaders' participate in local Chamber of Commerce; get to know the local business coalition on health; initiate a contact with chief executive officers of corporations; and use relevant examples of similar companies that have initiated elder care employee assistance programs.

Rep. Matijevich seeks reduction in tolls

by JOHN MATIJEVICH STATE REP.

The legislature authorized the construction of tollways in 1953. It was said, then, more than once, that when the tollway bonds were paid off, the highways would revert to freeways. The tollway system around Chicago was so profitable from the start that tollway authorities were boasting in the late sixties that the bonds would probably be paid off by 1980.

When the promises were made to eliminate the tolls when the bonds were paid off, many of us thought it was "too good to be true." The word all over was that "the tollway was such a money-maker, it will be a tollway forever."

The "good idea" for bond holders was almost guarantee to last ad infinitum once the Aurora Tollway was extended and the DuPage Tollway was authorized. These extensions, though, rely on the profitability of the Tri-State Tollway to finance the "new tollways."

It doesn't make sense to keep building new toll roads that don't pay their way. That's why I introduced two bills that (1) eliminate the tolls on the Tri-State and Northwest Tollways, or (2) reduce the tolls on those and from their place of employment. That means that commuters are paying a "double tax"—the normal gas tax plus the toll for using the tollway.

When I introduced House Bills 1637 and 1638, someone asked, "Are you serious, John?" I answered with a definite "Yes!" First, it happened before, years ago, when the legislature "forced" the tollway system to reduce the toll. It was only a nickel reduction, but the toll road riders welcomed it.

Also, I want to send a clear message to the tollway authorities and to the legislature. We've gone far enough—too far, in fact—in building new toll roads.

My bills will be heard in the House Roads and Bridges Committee this week. For too long, we've allowed the tollway to operate without public input. I think it's time for the Authority to listen. It's the public who made the tollway system work—that same public needs a break.

Commentary

iced to last ad infinitum once the Aurora Tollway was extended and the DuPage Tollway was authorized. These extensions, though, rely on the profitability of the Tri-State Tollway to finance the "new tollways."

The toll roads around Chicago are different from years ago. When it began, the tollway was used primarily by interstate motorists. Now, it's used primarily by commuters, to two toll roads from 40 cents to 25 cents.

Lake listing

The fisherman who hopes to catch more than an occasional bass or walleye may get a jump on this summer's fishing season by learning something about the lake.

Step one is a lake map - a hydrographic chart - showing the depth of the lake bottom. More than 2,500 Wisconsin inland lakes have been surveyed to date. A new updated alphabetical index for these lakes is available. The listing can be obtained at no charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped (45 cent) business envelope to: Lake Map Section, P.O. Musselwhite helps Mundelein squad survive Warren's scare

All in all, it was a near perfect week for Mundelein softball pitcher Susan Musselwhite.

The week featured:

-resolving the issue of where to attend college (Southeast Missouri State on a basketball scholarship);

-throwing her second perfect game in two years (in an 11-0, five inning game against Niles North);

-pitching 15 and two-thirds innings in a doubleheader in which she won two games and knocking home the winning run just when the Mustangs were threatened with losing their North Suburban Conference winning streak against Warren.

Mundelein had a flare for the dramatic this cold Saturday afternoon. Wins of 9-8 and 5-4 in nine innings kept the NSC streak in tact dating back to 1987 and kept MHS undefeated in the first six NSC games.

Mundelein Coach Jim de Rivera said the decision to accept the scholarship to the Missouri school should help Musselwhite.

Somewhat fittingly, Musselwhite's 15 and two-third inning day ended as she struck out the final Warren hitter.

Ashley Struggles also had a near-perfect day, as she was the right player in the right place in both Mundelein wins. Struggles singled in the ninth inning and later scored the winning run in the second game. Those runs enabled Mundelein to improve to 9-5 overall.

deRivera was not at all pleased with his team's play for the twinbill.

"To be able to play as poorly as we did today and still win is a good sign. I'm concerned with our mental mistakes as much as with our physical mistakes. This could be the dumbest team I've ever had," deRivera said.

deRivera said it was a frustrating day for him as a coach because of his team's defensive lapses.

"We have a lot of work that needs to be done. We need to work a lot on different situations," deRivera said.

For Warren, who fell to 3-6 overall and 3-3 in the NSC, Musselwhite is a familiar face. Although the No. 35 is not always pitching against the Blue Devils in person.

"We named our pitching machine 'Susan' because she is such an awesome pitcher and a quality person," Warren Coach Chris Woodard said.

"We don't have any superstars but we do have a group which sticks together and that helps you in close games," Woodard said.

What Warren does have is an above-average outfield which impressed deRivera. The right-fielder, Lisa McGinnis, made two diving catches while leftfielder Andrea True started a play which cut down Struggles' bid for a home run.

"Our outfield - Sue Huntington, True and McGinnis, has been outstanding," Woodard said.

Woodard said the team did not feel disappointed in that they did not end the vaunted Mundelein NSC streak.

"Even when it was 8-2 in the first game,

Carmel uses big innings in ESCC win

Lake County baseball fans will have a chance to see the team which is taking the baseball world by storm when the Corsairs host Marist April 29 in an East Suburban Catholic Conference doubleheader.

The doubleheader against the Redskins, who won their first two ESCC games, will begin at 11 a.m. in Mundelein.

The Corsairs won their 16th, 17th and 18th straight games and notched three wins to start the ESCC season off in the process.

Shawn Chambers is the leading Carmel hurler, with six wins in as many outings. He earned a 3-0 win in the first game against St. Patrick.

"He had control of all his pitches. He has a fastball, two speeds on the curveball and a changeup," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said of the lefty.

Chambers also owns a sparkling earned run average of 1.07.

Eric Maloney won the second game in a 6-0 contest against St. Patrick.

"Getting a double shutout gave us confidence and helped our momentum," Gandolfi said.

Then Monday against Holy Cross, the Corsairs had to take a different route as the home team had three home runs of their six hits. But fortunately for the Corsairs, two strong innings were able to overcome that in an 11-8 triumph.

The defense was a concern for the Carmel faithful, as the Corsairs had four errors.

"I thought our pitching was decent but our defense was shaky," Gandolfi said.

Carmel saved the big hits for the third and fourth innings, where they scored five and six runs.

Delivering key blows were a bases-loaded walk to Holly Smith and singles by Lynette Kowalke and Musselwhite.

Warren set the tone for the day by responding in the sixth inning.

deRivera started to pitch Kowalke for the frame but after she surrendered four runs, he went back to the ace with the perfect week, Musselwhite.

Warren, down 8-2, rallied as Tracy Mattingly walked with the bases loaded and Andrea True singled home two runs to cut the lead to 8-4.

Two more walks with the bases loaded, to Jan Jahnke and then to Lydia Gonzalez, trimmed the lead to 8-6.

Warren tied the game in the seventh inning as True reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Karen Uhli. Early in the game, Uhli had ripped a triple off Musselwhite.

Mundelein, as all top teams do, found a way to win in their eighth. Struggles, Michelle Strachan and Musselwhite all singled.

Musselwhite helped her own cause in the third inning of the second game as she tripled home a run for a 2-0 lead.

Warren came back with four in the fourth inning on just two hits. Uhli and Mattingly singled.

Lancers hope tourney success will continue

College of Lake County's softball team is hoping momentum gained in one tournament will carry over into sectional action.

The Lancers are the fourth seed at the Rock Valley sectional in Rockford, which begins play April 28. The Lancers will begin the double elimination tournament against McHenry with a noon game. CLC will play the loser or winner of the Elgin-Harper game in the second round Friday. The title game will be played April 29.

"If we play like we played this weekend, we will do just fine," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

"Just fine" were indeed the watchwords for the Lancers, who finished a strong second place at the Marquette tournament in Milwaukee. The Lancers defeated Illinois, Purdue, Carroll College and Milwaukee School of Engineering.

The tourney featured pitching gems from Kathleen Quilty as well as an extra inning contest.

CLC started with a 5-4 win over the Illini. Quilty was the winning pitcher while Jill Garross was the hitting star, driving in the winning run with an eighth-inning single.

Carla Davis then shutout Purdue 2-0 in a second eight-inning contest.

"We played extremely well in that game. We haven't played ball like that all season. Davis did not strike out anybody or walk anyone but she was very consistent," Garcia said.

Lynn Mack and Quilty reached base before Val Seger and Debbie Boness singled.

Quilty, 8-11, started the contest against Carroll, a 10-0 win, by walking the first batter. She then proceeded to fire a no-hitter, striking out 10 Carroll hitters.

The Lancers backed her up with a 15-hit attack. Julie Tortorici and Davis were two-for-four.

Warren aims to stay in NSC race for first place

Warren's baseball team will be hoping to wrap up a successful first round of play in the North Suburban Conference next week.

The Blue Devils, who are off April 29, will host North Chicago May 2 before traveling to the Warhawks' home May 4.

Warren started the week with a 5-2 NSC record, 9-3 overall after a dramatic win 4-3, eight inning win at Antioch.

Allen Crouch tripled and Mark Eifert singled home the winning run.

Steve Karolewicz was the winning pitcher for the Blue Devils, as he struck out eight and walked three.

"Karolewicz has been performing well for us," Warren Coach Ron Shelton said of the sophomore.

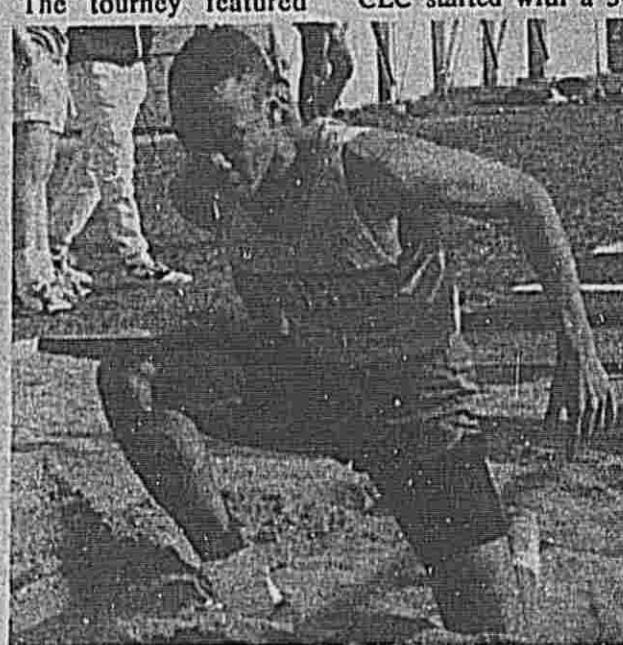

Crouch led the Warren hitting attack with a two-for-three day.

Warren was coming off a doubleheader sweep of Mundelein. The Blue Devils won the first game 6-3 as Aaron White picked up the win and won the second contest 9-7.

Eifert had a two-run homer in game two and Jim DeVries clubbed a grand slam in the fifth inning of the second game.

Mundelein, which dropped to 3-12 overall, led 3-0 early in game two on a Mark Mathews three-run homer.

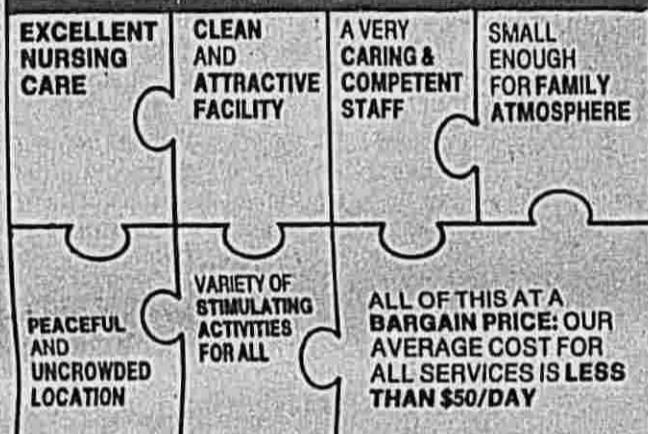

Giving best effort

Warren's Jarren King strives for a few more inches after long jump attempt during North Suburban Conference meet with Libertyville and Antioch. Blue Devils will travel to North Chicago April 29 for Warhawk Relays.

Pett's no-hitter proves just grand for Bulldogs

Although a rarity, one can usually count on at least one constant factor when talking about a no-hitter.

Usually, fans and other players become aware of the possibility long about the fourth inning, when 12 batters or so have been retired.

Grant's Jeff Pett pitched a no-hitter Monday against Round Lake, but the no-hitter was not the immediate cause for celebration by the Bulldogs.

Catcher Steve Maiworm's grand-slam homer in the sixth inning was the immediate cause for hoopla, as the Bulldogs ended the 12-0 game an inning early.

"We played really super defense," Grant Coach Fritz Kazlausky said.

Grant will take a breather from NWSC battles when it travels to Mundelein April 28 for a non-conference game. The Mustangs have struggled in the first half, losing 12 of 15 games.

The win gave both the Bulldogs and the senior Pett 6-0 records in the Northwest Suburban Conference. The victory also gave the Grant club some sweet revenge over Round Lake. Last year the Panthers edged the Bulldogs twice in extra innings to claim the NWSC title.

"They knew Jeff had a no-hitter but with Maiworm's home run, it was anticlimactic," Kazlausky said.

Pett was the most valuable player on last year's Grant team and is already making strides toward that end this year.

Pett walked two batters to prevent a bid for a perfect game but struck out five as Grant improved to 9-10 overall.

Grant started the game with a four-run first inning. Pett helped his own cause with a two-run RBI single. Randy Gomez had a sacrifice fly and Dave Portalsky contributed an RBI single.

Gomez singled and scored in the third inning as Grant increased the lead to 6-0.

John Appel's RBI single made it 7-0 in the fifth inning.

A solo homer by Gomez later that inning set up

Maiworm's heroics.

On defense, Kazlausky cited Dan Mathews' play in centerfield and Ben VonBruenchenhein at second base.

CLC hoping regular season ends with wins

College of Lake County's baseball team will be hoping to keep its chances alive for a conference title when the Lancers travel to Chicago to face Wright April 28.

The Lancers, after completing the Skyway Conference season, then finish the regular campaign with a home doubleheader at noon April 29 against Moraine Valley, a doubleheader at DuPage April 30 and a home doubleheader May 2 against Lewis.

"We still have mathematical shot at the conference title," CLC Coach Gene Hanson said.

The Lancers will be playing the games in the final week of the regular season with an eye toward the sectionals which begin May 4.

The Lancers, 7-3 in the Skyway and 26-12 overall to start the week, are coming off a four-game winning streak last week.

The Lancers beat Waubonsee twice and turned the tide the same way against Waukesha Tech.

Mark Ledinski fired a two-hitter in a 3-0 win in the first game against Waubonsee. CLC won the second contest 13-3.

Ledinski struck out eight and walked only one batter. Roy Salinas and Greg Green delivered key hits.

Salinas was a big factor in the second game, contributing a three-for-five day with two doubles, a home run and five RBIs. Dahn was two-for-four with three RBIs, Green three-for-four with two RBIs and Brad Dodge was two-for-three with an RBI.

Bong tree planting slated for April 29

Residents of southeastern Wisconsin communities are invited to "Plant a Tree with WCC" at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 29, at the Bong Recreation Area near Kansasville.

Crews from the Wisconsin Conservation Corps (WCC) will be working with Wis. Dept. of Natural Resources personnel to plant trees that will benefit wildlife and recreational users on the public property. The public is invited to participate as part of Wisconsin's celebration of Forest Products Week and Arbor Day.

Gov. Tommy Thompson has urged citizens to plant trees through April 30 in recognition of the environmental and economic value of trees in Wisconsin.

The WCC is a state agency which puts young, unemployed Wisconsin residents to work on a variety of conservation projects statewide. Currently, 51 WCC crews are working throughout the state.

Members of groups and organizations who wish to assist in the tree planting should contact the Bong Recreation Area Office at (414) 878-56-7 to give an estimate of expected numbers to attend.

Though trees and tools will be provided, Wells requested that members of the public bring tree planting equipment in case of a heavy turn out. Shovels, spades and five gallon buckets could be used.

The Bong Recreation Area is located approximately 20 miles west of Kenosha or eight miles east of Burlington on Hwy. 12.

She said between 3,000 and 4,000 customers were affected by power outages.

"Most people had their power back by 6 a.m.," Solomon said.

Hinsdale fire sparks Bell design changes

The Hinsdale fire last spring which disabled Illinois Bell's switching system has sparked the phone company into initiating a new network design.

Illinois Bell has announced it will invest $30 million over the next five years into that design in hopes of providing customers with additional protection from potential telephone service disruptions.

The new network design plus a series of other protective steps are part of a program Bell is calling the Ameritech Network Protection Plan.

"We are determined to protect customer communications and the additional safeguards we are taking will significantly reduce the risk of another service disruption," said Jim Eibel, Illinois Bell vice president of operations. "The preventive measures will minimize the impact on customers even in the highly unlikely case of another such event."

Construction of the network is already underway in the Chicago metropolitan area. The network plan is expected to be adopted by other Illinois cities served by Ameritech.

The changes, noted Eibel, "are a result of careful review of every aspect of the Hinsdale fire and the impact it had on customers."

Eibel said that based on preliminary review of a joint report issued by the Illinois Commerce Commission and the State Fire Marshal's office, "it appears that the thrust of our plan is responsive to and consistent with the findings of their extensive investigation."

"If, however, after further evaluation of the report, it appears that there is a need of additional protective measures, we will address them."

Steps being taken to reinforce Illinois Bell's existing service protection include:

New network design -- A new network design in the Chicago area should make it possible to route calls automatically around a communications gateway that has been damaged or disabled. (A gateway is a major network transmission center linking local switching centers with one another and with long distance networks.)

According to Bell officials, if a cable were cut between a switching center and gateway center, an alternate path would be immediately available.

"This will protect against the loss of long distance and other service that depend on gateway and regional connections," said Eibel.

The network is expected to serve nearly the entire Chicago area by 1992.

New alarm systems -- Three new 24-hour alarm centers will be established in the Chicago suburbs to supplement existing centers in Chicago and Springfield.

Meyer supporters blast 'Fair Taxation' request

Backers of Woodland Dist. 50 Supt. Dr. Marlin Meyer are criticizing a request for his resignation.

In two letters to the editor, the request made by Citizens for Fair Taxation in Warren Twp. was blasted.

The fair taxation group, headed by Esper Petersen and Gordon 'Buz' Shepherd, is calling for Meyer's resignation, citing the three-time failure of the Woodland Dist. 50 to pass a tax hike request.

"I think they did us a lot of damage last time. It was an uphill battle in the best of circumstances," Suzanne Brenner said.

"I hope that residents of Woodland School Dist. 50 will recognize the 'Citizens for Fair Taxation in Warren Twp.' for the self-serving scoundrels that they are," Brenner said in her letter.

Brenner, a Pembroke resident, said that the citizens group was circulating false or misleading information in order to defeat the Woodland referendum in April.

"The money situation won't go away," Brenner said.

Woodland was seeking a 95 cent increase per $100 of assessed valuation for the educational fund in April.

No decision has been made on whether to seek another referendum try in November.

Brenner said all it takes to see the Woodland problems is a five-minute walk through the schools.

Brenner termed calling for Meyer's resignation "irresponsible. These people have not attended board meetings, refuse to meet with the superintendent, get their twisted facts from unknown sources and seem to know nothing about the current condition of the schools," Brenner said in the letter.

"What possible credibility can Shepherd and Petersen have in their outlandish claims when they don't even live in Woodland School Dist. The only vested interest they have in the districts is the apartments and shopping mall developments in the district that will face higher taxes when the referendum is passed," Robert Hood said in his letter.

Brenner said the conditions of the Gages Lake schools is so neglected that many of the people she knows have their children on waiting lists for private schools.

Coalition, one step closer

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Mayor-elect James Kay of Lake Zurich is starting his "kinder" and "gentler" administration beginning with area mayors.

Following a few more lunches or dinners, Kay hopes to organize an informal coalition of mayors to meet once a month or every six weeks and discuss mutual concerns.

"We share a common area with many similar problems," the new Lake Zurich mayor said. "It is much better to resolve these face to face than in court."

This is the same feeling as President Walter Clarke of North Barrington and President Nancy Smith of Lake Barrington with whom Kay met last week. "Nobody ever wins where attorneys are involved," Clarke said. Both villages have had near occasion to be legally involved with Lake Zurich in the past.

The same is true of Kildeer, which has been the target of at least two past Lake Zurich lawsuits. Kay met with Mayor-elect George Welch of that community last Saturday.

The two new mayors were unanimous in their desire to include newly-elected Hawthorn Woods Mayor Glenn Greishaber and new Mayor James Peterson of Deer Park in the meetings.

Kay, who will receive $5,200 annually as mayor, said most of that may go for lunches and other social functions he will be asked to attend. As for his job of 12 years as production manager for Schaff Piano Supply Co. of Lake Zurich, a manufacturer of piano strings, Kay said he will have little problem getting away.

"Yes, I will keep my job," Kay said. "There is enough flexibility in it for other things. Most of my work at the plant is done by noon," he said about one-half hour he spends at home at that time of the day.

Gurnee school set for play

Viking Junior High School students are rehearsing for three performances of 'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs' to be performed on May 4, 5 and 6.

The play will be under the direction of Jim Neal.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for junior high students and children. The tickets are being sold by the members of the cast and stage crew and may also be purchased at the door on the night of the performances.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" by Elsa Rael opened at New York's theatre on Dec. 18, 1965 and ran for more than three years. It had the longest continuous performance record of any children's show on or off Broadway.

More than a million children have seen this work in live performance.

Viking Junior High is located at 4460 Grand Ave.

WHAT IS 4-WHEEL ALIGNMENT?

Every car, rear wheel or front wheel drive, has an imaginary centerline. All four wheels must be parallel to this line for proper handling and tire wear. When either the front or rear wheels are not parallel you will have poor handling performance, increased wear on suspension parts and tires!

DO YOU NEED IT?

You should have a periodic alignment check to find out.
